FTR Interview Suite does more than record interviews with victims, suspects, and witnesses. This law enforcement innovation provides powerful collaborative and investigative tools to maximize the information captured during the interview and leverage that intelligence in the pursuit of justice. FTR Interview Suite facilitates live, remote viewing of interviews so offsite specialists and detectives can lend their expertise. To aid investigations, it captures each expression and variation in tone with four channels of high-fidelity audio and high-definition video, and records this content in multiple file formats. Strict privacy settings protect the recordings, which can be annotated, bookmarked, parsed, shared, and presented at trial. In addition to having robust features, FTR Interview Suite has an intuitive user interface to ensure the emphasis remains on law enforcement activities instead of administrative tasks. Departments can rapidly integrate the technology and improve productivity without any changes to procedure.
